314 Increase Over Spring '64 Enrollment

With the final figures now tabulated, the University of Omaha has 314 more students registered this semester than the same time one year ago.

University of Omaha Registrar Virgil Sharpe said this week complete IBM calculations show a total of 7770 students, both full and part-time, now registered at OU. This figure compares with last spring's total of 7456.

Largest

Mr. Sharpe said the increase backs up his previous statement of this being "the largest spring enrollment in the history of the University."

The breakdown of other figures from the Registrar's office shows an increase in full time students this semester over the same time a year ago. "This time last year (second semester 1964) we had 3231 full time students as compared with this semester's registration of 3473," he declared.

Part-Time Increase

The number of part-time students has also increased this semester according to Mr. Sharpe. "We had 4225 part time students enrolled last year at this time. This year we have 4297 registered," he said.

Comparisons with last year and this year's fall and spring enrollments:

Fall 1963-64	8,138
Fall 1964-65	8,408
Spring 1964	7,456
Spring 1965	7,770

Figures are total enrollment, including full and part-time students.

Omicron Delta Kappa Sets Goal Of 400 Pints For Thursday Drive

The second semester blood drive sponsors are attempting to surpass last semester's goal by 240 pints.

Chuch Saxton, president of Omicron Delta Kappa, is leading his group as sponsors of the drive which will be held next Thursday.

Donation hours are 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on the third floor of the Milo Bail Student Center. As in the past, the Red Cross will serve coffee and rolls to all donors.

Painless

Dr. B. Gale Oleson, director of Academic Testing and Counseling, is faculty sponsor for ODK. He says there is relatively little pain in the giving of blood.

Last semester the campus religious groups, sponsors of the drive, netted 162 pints with a goal of 150.

Trophies will be presented in two divisions: one for the group contributing the most amount and one to the organization donating the most on a percentage-wise basis.

Sign-Up

Registration tables will be manned in front of the Bookstore next week for people to sign up for donations. As is always the case, people under the age of 21 must have the signed consent of either a parent or guardian to give.

Assistant Professor of Biology, Dr. Robert P. Borgman, testifies to the fact that "Someone LIVES When Someone GIVES," the slogan for the drive. Last year, his four-year-old son Steven underwent open heart surgery. The youngster needed four pints of blood for the three and one half hour operation. Normally an operation of this type takes between 20 and 30 pints of blood.

NAACP Trying To Form At OU

The Youth Branch of the Local Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has expanded but not abandoned its ideals of trying to establish a college NAACP chapter on the University of Omaha campus.

The council's previous plans were to try to establish a youth council exclusively comprised of college students from Creighton University, Duchesne, University of Nebraska and the University of Omaha. The Council's headquarters were to be located on OU's campus.

At the Youth Council's first 1965 meeting it was decided to expand the youth council to include college students as well as high school students, thus postponing ideals of a college chapter.

Probation Is Warning But Not A Punishment

By Loren Schnittgrund

Apparently no count has ever been taken to determine the number of OU students on academic probation.

University Registrar, Virgil Sharpe, said that students are put on probation automatically by data processing machines. Sharp said it would be interesting to look into this matter at a later date. He said it hasn't seemed important to the administration before, since students are never suspended from the University until they have been considered by the Academic Standing Committee.

Normal Progress

Students are placed on "academic probation" if they do not maintain a "normal progress curve. The curve is presented on page 29 of the general catalog. A first semester freshman must obtain a 1.2 average if he is to remain in good standing with the University. It then progresses as more hours are acquired. After a student has earned 58 hours of credit, which is junior standing, he must maintain a 2 point accumulative until graduation. (No degrees are given to students who do not maintain 2.0 accumulative minimum.)

Misunderstanding

Dean of Student Personnel Donald Pflasterer noted two points that are many times misunderstood by the students. He said a student's accumulative grade determines if he is to go on probation and he is not judged on a semester basis. Sec-ic Standing Committee and "no" students are dismissed by a machine. If the Committee decides on suspension of any student, he will not be allowed to attend "any" classes at OU for one year.

Restrictions

While a student is on academic probation, he is restricted from participation in all extra-curricular activities, except intramural sports.

The requirements of the "normal progress curve" are not too tough for the students to meet, said Pflasterer, and he believes the rules of the University are "fair and not too restrictive. He said many universities are more lax and some more strict, but he feels those at the University of Omaha "are adequate."

Parking Situation Better At Church

A spokesman for the First Christian Church, 6630 Dodge Street, termed the parking situation in the church's lots this week as "improved."

The spokesman said "only a few" persisted in parking in the east lot on Monday. The cars were tagged with warning notices from the church office; however, no cars were towed away.

Yearbook Nears Final Deadline

The midnight oil has been burning in the Student Publications office this week. Members of the 1965 TOMAHAWK yearbook staff have been working to meet their final deadline of March 1.

"We have about 130 pages to go and with a little luck we should make it," editor Sheri Hronek mused Tuesday. Matters were complicated when senior pictures were received just several days before the final deadline, Hronek added.

The staff has met every Saturday for the past year, and for the last month has worked on the yearbook 10 to 12 hours each weekend. Further complications: missing equipment and pages during the last week and spilled lunches on TOMAHAWK final pages.

Staff members on this year's book were Livi Bergman, Diane Berry, Barbara Brown - the 1966 editor-elect, Patti Matson, Debbie Pelowski and photographer Larry Wasikowski.

The TOMAHAWK will be available to full-time OU students late this spring.

Harkness Blames Counseling For Many Student Failures

By Dan Eveland

Dr. Charles Harkness, head of the University Studies Division has a definite solution to the dropout problem. Says Dr. Harkness, "Each entering freshman should be placed in the University Studies program. There they would receive help from the University in making up their minds."

He believes this is necessary because only about 89 per cent of the entering freshmen at OU graduate in the same major field that they declared when they entered and only about 50 per cent of the freshmen at OU make it scholastically to the end of their sophomore year.

Lack of Guidance

Dr. Harkness blames the lack of wise and competent counseling and guidance for many failures. A great many entering freshmen are faced with unsurpassable problems. Some are under parental pressure, many do not know what they want to study, while others lack the necessary skills, but not the intelligence, to succeed in college. Without a strong guiding hand, many become disgusted, tired and trapped. As a result, they drop out.

Orientation

The University Studies Division tries to relieve many of the students' problems by not letting them happen. Uncertain freshman take a one-hour course—Orientation—designed to help them decide their future and are thoroughly counseled and guided.

The University Studies Division has been at OU for only two and one half years. Dr. Harkness has headed the program for one and one half years and only this year added two counselors, to help him handle the increasing number of students in the program.

Harkness . . . Studies

Pflasterer . . . Study

only, Pflasterer said, probation is based on the students hours "attempted" and not those "earned."

Being on academic probation is not a punishment, said Pflasterer, but only a warning to the student. "The student knows he is on the border line and this is his chance to prove himself," he said. He has one semester in which to improve his grades. However, if he still does not meet the requirements of the "normal progress curve" at the end of one semester, but has shown considerable improvement in his grades, his probation period may be extended. Therefore, a student may be on probation for more than one semester, but he will never be suspended without at least "one semester" on probation, he said.

Notification

Students being placed on probation are notified on their grade report they receive in the mail at the end of each semester. Many students, said Pflasterer, complain they are being put on probation "by a machine." In a sense this is true, he said, but before any student is suspended from the university, his case, as mentioned earlier, is discussed by the Academic

Students Here Thank Speakeasy For Easy Speech

By LEE FORSBERG

Uh, ah, if you—ah, have, uh, problems getting up and speaking in front of others without saying uh and ah, you could probably profit from Speakeasies.

I am not suggesting you take a few stiff drinks before getting up to speak. Speakeasies is not the name of a new pub. It is, however, an organization on campus designed to help the average person in his everyday life.

Beginning

The Speakeasies here date back to the spring of 1959 when Warren Gore, assistant professor of speech, felt a need in his first semester at OU for a toastmaster group on the campus. Shortly thereafter it was decided that an informal toastmasters group would be held with no dues, no attendance record and no grades. When looking for a name for the group, he thought that this helped one speak more easily. From this the name "Speakeasy" was born.

The group operates on the same basic plan of a toastmaster — toastmistress plan. Topics are written on small slips of paper. Each person draws a topic and is given one minute to form a beginning, a middle and an end.

While people are speaking, someone times the talk to determine when the one minute is up.

Ah

The "ah-meter" is also an important part of the Speakeasy program. A washer is dropped into a tin can each time a speaker says "uh or ah".

After everyone has been given a chance to speak, a speech instructor critiques the talk and names the speaker of the week. The winner must then return the following week and give a five minute talk which is a type of biographical, philosophical speech. Though not a profound speech, it does function in a special way. Called "Icebreakers," they help break the ice and start the talks going.

So, ah, if you have any, uh, problems or, uh, would like to improve your speaking ability, go to Speakeasies. They meet in alcoves C and D in the cafeteria every Monday at 11:30 and 12:30, and every Tuesday at 11:30. I, uh, will, uh, see you there.

About 180 nurses are part time this semester at Omaha University. These special students represent Immanuel, Clarkson and Methodist Hospitals in Omaha and Jennie Edmundson in Council Bluffs. The nurses carry from three to ten hours.

Fielding-Scherer Married Saturday

Wedding bells rang for Journalism Instructor Ken Fielding Saturday.

He and his bride, the former Sally Marie Scherer, were married in a 3 p.m. ceremony at First Presbyterian Church, 34th and Farnam Streets.

A January, 1961, Omaha University graduate, Fielding met his wife at school, but not OU. Instead, they met in the fifth grade at Henry W. Yates school here in Omaha.

Mrs. Fielding is a former OU student; however, she has not graduated. At the present time she doesn't know when she will receive her degree.

After a "brief" honeymoon, Fielding was back on campus Monday to resume his duties as journalism instructor.

Two Will Travel To Illinois Meet

Maureen Borden and Melanie Workhoven will represent Omaha University at an Interpretation Tournament at Western Illinois University next March 5-6. The tournament at McComb, Ill., will consist of six rounds.

Misses Borden and Workhoven were selected at an elimination contest last week. Warren Gore, James Onder and Dudley Sauve of the speech department served as judges of the contest.

Each entree was required to read one selection of prose and one of poetry. Miss Borden read "Portrait of a Lady," and a selection from To Kill A Mockingbird. Miss Workhoven read a short story, "For No Way" and a scene from John Brown's Body.

Sue Bahringer was selected by the judges as the first alternate to make the trip. Others participating in the contest were: Judy McFarland, Carl Pixley, Nina Bieda, Norman Murphy and Dave Richardson.

Snow Hits OU Hard In Wallet

By BOB EXLEBEN

Last week while composing a eulogy to the snow (I was going to call it "Ode to a Snow-Covered Fire Hydrant" or something equally aesthetic) I encountered Clarence Lefler and his cohorts from the Physical Plant Department.

They had frost in their hair, snow shovels in their hands and enraged looks in their eyes.

My time here in the hospital has not been entirely ill-spent. I have been pouring over physical plant records. Here are some of the eye-opening facts.

Hard Hit

The big snow two weeks ago hit OU hard—in the wallet.

Total costs for snow removal came to $3,344. That included $392 in overtime paid to plant personnel. The big bite—$2,951 worth—went to Dugdale Construction Company. Dugdale's charges for the entire season totaled less than half of the amount prior to "the big snow."

The season's total cost to date is $4,424 for Dugdale and $1,078 for the Physical Plant Department. The plantmen have logged 340 hours of overtime thus far this winter.

High Rental

The high cost of snow removal stems from the high rental costs of equipment. Rental fees for loaders run $17 per hour, snow plows cost $15 per hour, graders, $14 and dump trucks, $9.50.

Ah, but who can deny the beauty of a world cloaked in a mantle of feathery white? The splendorous . . .

Mr. Lefler! What are you doing here? Visiting hours aren't until eight. But you don't understand . . .

No! NO! NOOOOO!!!

OU's Debaters Are On The Go

The Omaha University debaters are on the move again this weekend. Six students went to Lincoln yesterday for the Intercollegiate Debate Conference which will end tomorrow.

Two teams of debaters are entered in the Class A division. They are Jim Foral and Denny Adams, John Huebert and Joyce McWilliams.

Entered in the Class B division are Virginia Todd and Janet Volte, Amy Bescke and Mary Jo Brandt.

Each of these students are also entered in individual events. Janet Volte and Amy Bescke are entered in the oratory division. Jim Foral and Virginia Todd will compete in extemporaneous speaking and Denny Adams and Mary Jo Brandt will be in an oral interpretation contest.

AA Fallen Plaster Due To Leaky Pipe

"THE SKY IS FALLING!" No, Chicken Licken, the sky isn't falling. It's the plaster on the ceiling of the second floor corridor of the Applied Arts building.

The falling plaster was the result of a leak around a vent pipe on the roof of the AA building.

According to Assistant Physical Plant Manager Robert Krenzer, the leak was probably caused by water freezing around the drain.

Plantmen cleaned around the drain and applied a patching material. They also patched the damaged ceiling.

The company that roofed the building will inspect the damage as soon as weather permits.

Communication Improved In Closed-Circuit Classes

"I feel I communicate better with the students over television than I do in my lectures in AA 101," said Dr. W. E. Jaynes concerning his Introduction to Psychology classes. "I can look at the camera and think of it as an individual student."

Dr. Jaynes teaches all of his classes this semester, by means of closed circuit television on campus. The 8:30 a.m. class is the only one, however, that receives it live from the studio. The other classes receive a taping of the same lecture.

Good Idea

"I think the taping is a good idea because all of the students are then exposed to the same lecture material," he said.

Four classes in the introduction course are taught twice a week by means of television. The students are also required to attend one discussion group a week.

Assisting Dr. Jaynes are graduate interns Mrs. Sherlyn Ausdenmore, Douglas Chatfield, Kenneth Meyer, John Niemann, and William Oakes.

A study in the spring of 1964 concerning the comparison found very little difference in the method of teaching.

"Contrary to some thought, students in the television class did significantly better in grades than did the class which was taught in the lecture hall," Dr. Jaynes commented.

Drawback

One of the possible drawbacks for the over 425 students involved is a lack of communication during lectures.

In previous classes it was possible to ask the lecturer questions through a classroom-to-studio microphone arrangement.

However, contrary to this belief some think there is more uninterrupted information given.

"Students also have the opportunity to ask questions during discussion and can see the lab interns or me privately if there are any questions," Dr. Jaynes concluded.

New Book Costs Are High

The cost of placing a new book on the shelves of the Gene Eppley Library is estimated at $5-$10 over and above the cost of the book itself according to the Library.

Accounting for this expense is a tremendous amount of paperwork involved in the purchasing, cataloging and filing of a text before it is ready for use.

The card catalogue, located near the main desk in the library, represents much of the labor that goes into making a work available. A minimum of three cards are filed according to title, author and subject matter for each book.

For insurance purposes, the value of the cards in the card catalogue is set at nearly $250,000, which is comparable to the insurance coverage on the catalogue in the Main Branch of the Omaha Public Library; however, in each case, the actual work encountered in totally replacing the files would far exceed this sum.

Whenever a book is lost, the University demands a one dollar processing fee in addition to the replacement price:

C.A.E. Special

Tickets for the play "She Stoops to Conquer," by Oliver Goldsmith, will be made available to all CAE students upon presentation of their student activity cards.

Tickets will be made available from March 8 to 12 in the Milo Bail Student Center.

The play will be presented the evenings of March 11, 12 and 13 at 8:30 p.m. in the OU auditorium.

Gritty Indian Cagers Ignore Losses For Two Big Upsets

Omaha's Bill Haas on the move against Rockhurst

Baseball Coach and Athletic Director Virg Yelkin has announced that official baseball practice will begin Monday, March 1st in the Fieldhouse at 3:30.

All candidates are required to attend at this time and physicals will be given until four o'clock.

Also, any student eligible for golf or tennis is invited to report next week to the respective coaches in the department.

Coaches stipulate that all candidates are required to have a physical and attend every practice session.

'Ironmen' Dump Rockhurst Five; Hays Succumbs In Last Minute

By MIKE MORAN

Omaha's amazing "Ironmen" fought off a late Rockhurst rally to whip the defending NAIA champs, 72-70, at OU Monday night before a crowd estimated at 800.

The game was probably one of the most satisfying wins in Coach Jim Borsheim's career and marked the second year in a row that the Indians have whipped the Hawks at OU after losing at Kansas City earlier in the season.

The victory upped OU's season mark to 10-12. This does not include last night's CIC finale with Emporia.

OU's starting five of Larry Villnow, Jim and Charley Myers, Bill Haas and Jim Vincent went all the way. The Indians came out of several ties to lead at the half, 40-37. Long range shooting by Charley Myers plus the constant pressure defense at mid court by the OU guards kept Rockhurst at bay.

Fort Hays coach Cade Suran told OU officials last Saturday that pressuring Rockhurst's guards would do the trick. So, pressure they did, and even more.

The taller Hawks were forced into many errors and only the hot hand of big Pat Caldwell and help from jumping jack John Payne kept the Missouri outfit in contention.

Rockhurst, under the constant pressure, never got back the lead in the second half. But never was Omaha ahead by more than four points in the see-saw battle.

Just when it seemed that things might sway the other way, an Indian would come up with a clutch basket.

Freshman Haas, performing before some 200 of his fellow Ralstonites who made it "Bill Haas Night", was the man of the hour on more than one occasion with a key rebound, pass or bucket.

Stalling Works

With just under four minutes to go and OU leading, 67-66, Borsheim called for a semi-stall. The shorter Indians played catch with the ball and Rockhurst defenders stayed just within grabbing range until a bad pass and a layup closed the gap to 70-66.

But Jim Myers was fouled and hit two free shots in the closing seconds to make it 72-68 and ice the game.

The loss dropped the Hawks to 11-15 for the year. OU dropped a 75-72 decision at Kansas City in December.

Fort Hays Topped

A four game losing streak came to an abrupt halt Saturday night as Omaha used Jim Vincent's free throw with 37 seconds to go for a 58-57 win over the Tigers.

The win elevated OU into a second place tie in the CIC and was win number 9 of the year.

The unusually dull game belied the fast and exciting finish it would produce. OU used good inside work by Larry Villnow to take a 33-20 halftime lead.

Hays was on top by two in the first half, then abruptly switched to a man-to-man defense. OU responded by setting Jim and Charley Myers loose on drives and took the lead.

Tigers Rebound

The Kansans came back to take the lead just after the half as OU hit a cold streak. The (Continued on Page 5)

Lone Senior Villnow Sees Improvement Ahead For OU

The only graduation loss of the Omaha University basketball team has predicted that next years roundballers will be in "real good shape" providing ineligibility losses can be recouped.

Four-year letterman Larry Villnow said the return of Sam Singleton and the addition of six-foot-six Missouri transfer Dennis Brown will give the team the height it will need. Villnow is competent to judge the height problem. He is six-foot-seven and has been OU center for four years.

The towering senior observed that height has been the main problem of Omaha U. teams for the last four years, but points out that the situation was eased somewhat this season. He said the schedule has improved steadily.

He said the first semester team of this campaign was the best he had played on during his four-year tenure and that the potential was well-developed.

Villnow, who has had an athletic scholarship for the full four years is grateful to the school and said he would come back to Omaha again if he had the choice. He does, in fact, plan to continue school here. A sociology major, he plans to get his Masters Degree. There is a chance that he may act as a student assistant to head coach Jim Borsheim.

Larry terms his education here as good as can be had and plans to go into personnel or welfare work when he has his Masters. He says the travel with the basketball team was a worthwhile bonus.

The 6-6 pivot was a former high school standout at Omaha Benson High, where he earned three basketball letters and the same in track. At Omaha, he developed his outside shooting and driving to the point that Borsheim has been able to use him at a forward spot in addition to playing in the center.

Most observers agree that Villnow came into his own last year after earning All-CIC second team honors.

Grapplers Blank Vikings But Wayne Wins Thriller

by Ken McEwen

OU wrestlers are in for an uphill grind as they leave tomorrow morning for a three o'clock match with Northwest Missouri at Maryville. The contest will be the last regularly scheduled meet of the year before entering into regional and possibly national NAIA competition.

N. W. Missouri looks very impressive in the record books. They have won their last thirty dual meets. Their last loss was in 1962 when Omaha University beat them 15-13. N. W. Missouri has principally the same team as the one that last year downed OU, 21-8. Coach Don Benning declined to recognize the apparent advantage that the Bearcats hold in the record books. Benning explained that last year's test had OU forfeiting one match and had one man not making his weight. He said, "The boys have a very good chance of breaking the winning streak." The coach said that there will be no changes in the line up for the Bearcats and the everyone seems to be ready.

New District

The wrestlers will then be idle until March 5 and 6 when the District 11 NAIA tournament begins. The district tournament is something new for OU and Nebraska colleges this year. It will be a preliminary to the national tournament and will help in seeding men at the National in Cherry Boat, Indiana on March 10, 11 and 12.

Wayne State will be the host to the regional meet and Benning looks to them as the team to beat at this early date. Wayne is the defending champ.

The regional tournament has another plus factor in that it helps to finance the one-two-three winners for their trips to the nationals.

Benning didn't say who he plans to take to the nationals except that there maybe from five to seven men.

Revenge for OU

The Coach said with a re-

vengeful smile, "We'll all be looking forward to Wayne in the district meet". He was referring to 15-13 loss by OU Tuesday night to the Wildcats.

The coach said that he was disappointed in the lower weights and thought that "they didn't wrestle up to their capabilities." He expressed pleasure with Jim Fuxa however in his loss to Ron Tope. Wayne State's Tope was last years District 11 choice at the 137-pound spot and finished fifth in national competition. The soft spoken coach said, "Jim improved and displayed a new type of aggressiveness which he needs to become the type of wrestler he should be."

Benning was also content with the performance of Rich Tomasek, Reggie Williams and Rick Davis. He said of Williams, "He is coming to the stage where he has acquired the skill and confidence where he is tough to beat."

Wayne State 15, OU 13.
123—Bill Schwartz (Wayne) dec. Tom Bell, 7-0.
130—Jeff Meineke (Wayne) dec. Gerald Shook, 1-0.
137—Ron Tope (Wayne) dec. Jim Fuxa, 3-1.
147—Rich Greg (Wayne) dec. Ken Netwig, 7-3.

177—Rich Tomasek (Omaha) dec. Larry Leonhardt, 6-0.
Hvt.—Bob Kruse (Wayne) dec. Tom Maldes, 7-0.

Augustana Downed

Augustana fell as the second pointless victim of OU Saturday night 34-0. Coach Benning gave a little sympathy to Augustana however, by saying that they lost a couple of matches by forfeit and that it was tough for them to come back.

OU 34, Augustana 0.
123—Tom Bell (Omaha) dec. Roger Black, 5-3.
130—Gerald Shook (Omaha) won by forfeit.
137—Jim Fuxa (Omaha) won by forfeit, then beat Mark Sanderson, 2-0, in exhibition.
147—Ken Netwig (Omaha) dec. Jim Khudson, 3-1.
157—Reggie Williams (Omaha) pinned Dean Lebra in 8:05.
167—Rick Davis (Omaha) pinned Jon Ryland in 5:00.
177—Rich Tomasek (Omaha) dec. Les Klermt, 5-0.
Hvt.—Tom Maldes (Omaha) pinned Duane Jozeginski in 6:46.

Thinclads Brace For Doane, Graceland; Gould Tops In Win

Graceland College of Lamoni, Iowa, and Doane will provide the opposition tonight in the Fieldhouse as the indoor track season ends its third week.

Little is known about the Iowa squad but Doane will bring its usually tough squad that features Peter Sura, one of the nation's best halfmilers.

The German lad was an Olympic candidate for West Germany this summer.

Omahans Annex

Coach Lloyd Cardwell's young and green thinclads found the winning combination in the middle distances and Ken Gould's strong running to get win number one of the season Tuesday night over Yankton and Peru in the Sielhouse.

A sweep in the 600 by Ray Hultman, Loren Drum, Bob Smiley and Jim McMahon, plus a 1-2-3 finish in the 880 by Gould, Hultman and Smiley, gave OU valuable points to finish on top.

Omaha had 621, Peru 51½ and Yankton tallied 37. Tom White of Yankton turned in a great hurdles performance by taking the lows and highs. He set a Fieldhouse mark of 7.4 in the highs that broke the mark of 7.5 set in 1957 by OU's Bill Barnes.

His time of :07 in the lows was one-tenth of a second off the mark set by Rocket Roger Sayers of OU in 1962.

Grignon Surprises

The real surprise of the evening came in the pole vault where young Al Grignon battled Peru's Charles Neimeier right down to the last jump before bowing at 12-1.

Grignon's finish and a third place tie by Harold Lenz were the only OU points in the field events.

Dennis Ondilla of Omaha pulled up second in the 60 after Peru's Curtis Holliman got off to a questionable fast start.

Emporia Wins

Powerful Emporia State opened the indoor season last Friday night by taking a quad-

Yankton's White Leads Field Enroute To Record Breaking Hurdle Mark

Holliman appeared to jump the gun, but officials ruled otherwise and the State College lad couldn't be headed down the stretch.

Gould won the mile and two mile handily and with little competition. Herb Rhodes was nosed out for fourth in the furlong by Peru's Jim Watson at the tape.

The Indian mile relay team stayed unbeaten with a 3:35.8 clocking. The quartet of Ondilla, Max Kurz, Drum and McMahon beat Peru by a good margin.

The Kansans scored 79 points to 35 for Omaha, 24 for Wayne and 14 for the Plainsmen.

Emporia pole vaulter C. R. Robe amazed the crowd with a record smashing 14-4 in the pole vault, breaking the Fieldhouse mark of 14-¼ set by Fort Hays' Kent Bauer in 1962.

Ace miler John Camien nipped Omaha's Ken Gould in a 4:23.8 mile that Emporia coach Fran Welch called "just a workout" for his star.

Camien has the fastest time (4:01.7) in the nation so far this year.

Powers Surprises

OU's surprise in a somewhat bleak night was rookie hurdler Gary Powers of Gothenburg. Powers made his debut in the 60 highs and won in 7.7.

Teammate Clyde Ketelsen came back to win the lows in 7.3 as Powers did not enter the lower standards race.

Other than that, only OU's winning mile relay team and Wayne Shotputter Ed Humpal could get a first place finish as Emporia dominated.

When Emporia's Rich Vininski won the 60, it was the first time in five years that an OU runner has not taken first in that event. First Roger Sayers, then Terry Williams dominated the shorter sprints throughout their careers.

Are Those Morvin Raiders For Real? Only Time Will Tell As Tourney Pace Approaches Peak; Finals Monday Nite

By ROGER PRAI

Marvin's Raiders, darkhorse basketball tournament entry, took a giant step forward this week by coming up victors in their first two outings.

The powerful Bootstrap team, sporting a 5-2 record in league #2, fell to the slick Raiders 44-42 in overtime. Sporting a 22-17 halftime lead, the Boots kept in the game by outstanding shooting from the free throw line.

Leading the Raider scoring was Mike Moran with 26 points followed by Jim Gember with 10 markers.

Controlling the boards throughout the contest, the fierce game was marked by heavy fouling. If records were kept for most fouls in a game, this one would probably win hands down with a total of 39 fouls called, 22 of them on the Marvin Raiders.

Tourney Results This Week

Fugitives	49	Grads	32
Cherubs	58	Cagers	35
Yellow Jackets	104	Hawkeyes	21

Marvin Raiders	44	Boots (ovt.)	42
Zekes	48	Darts	39
Marvin Raiders	43	Lambda Chi	36
Pairings Today
Marvin Raiders-Zekes	4:00

Pacing the Boot scoring was Dale Dickens with 15 points.

In their second outing, the Marvin Raiders raced past Lambda Chi 43-36. Leading throughout the contest, the Raiders combined a good floor game and board work for the victory.

Raider scoring and rebounding was led by Moran with 20 points followed by much improved Leo Meidlinger with 8. Meanwhile, the season's leading scorer in Intramural basketball, Lambda Chi's J. Berkheimer, was held to 10 points. Berkheimer scored a total of 111 points in seven games for the season. Taking scoring honors for the losers was Ron Wagner with 14 points.

In marked contrast to their first game, the Raiders committed a mere nine fouls compared to their opponents 12.

Next opponent for the Raiders are the Zeke Moe Joes at 4 p.m. today in the fieldhouse. The Zekes earned the right to meet the Raiders by dumping the Darts 48-39. Zeke scoring was led by Jerry Kamphvis with 23 points. High for the losers was Carl Allison with 15 markers.

In other tournament action this week, the Sig Eps got off to a slow start against the Royals but turned on the steam in the second half dumping the Royals 48-32. Sig Ep scoring was led by Larry Hammer with 16 and Ken McEwen with 15 points.

The Fugitives beat the Graduates, 49-32, the Cagers went down to league #3 winner Cherubs, 58-35, and the Hawkeyes, last place finishers in league #3, were completely crushed by the Yellow Jackets for an easy 104-21 win.

The championship game of the tournament, originally scheduled for March 2 has been moved up a day to March 1 at 8 p.m.

Bowlers Third

OU bowlers Gary Neilsen and Bill Poff took third place in the Student Center Games tournament at Kansas City last weekend.

The doubles team of Neilsen and Poff, plus Gary Groberg, Don Vander Werf and Bob Begeley participated.

Larry and Gary Grau took third place in the chess tournament at Kansas City and James Thompson played in the Tennis Matches.

OU Host To CIC Indoor Carnival

Omaha University will host the annual Central Intercollegiate Conference Indoor Track Meet next weekend.

The Friday and Saturday meet will be an evening-afternoon affair with Saturday finals run during the day. Omaha U has been host to the indoor carnival ever since joining the conference in 1959.

Defending champ Emporia and strong Pittsburg are expected to battle it out for the team title. OU, third a year ago, will probably have to settle for at least that spot again.

Defending champs Roger Sayers and Terry Williams will not be back to assure Indian points in the sprints, so much will depend on the legs of distance ace Ken Gould and his middle distance companions.

The Music Annex is sporting a new set of letters on its front, telling everyone that it is now officially the "Sarah A. Joslyn Music Annex", in honor of its principal benefactor.

SPECIAL EVENTS EDITOR

Editor's Note:

The affable looking gentleman in the picture below is Dr. E. J. Steele, head of OU's department of economics. He came to OU in 1961, having previously taught at two other universities and a college. He succeeded Dr. Roderick Crane as head of the department in 1964.

This is the first of several interviews with some interesting professors and instructors at OU to appear in this column. During the following weeks, we will sneak a peak at the personalities of some other faculty members whose lives are fascinating and colorful.

Dr. Elroy J. Steele is a man of many academic interests. For example, he began his college career in 1939 as an English major at the little Burlington College in Burlington, Ia. When working on his masters, his interest changed and he sought this degree in Political Science. In 1957, he earned his Ph.D. in Economics. "My study in all these areas has always stood me in good stead," noted Steele.

A Good Influence

Dr. Steele said that when he was a boy back in Kirkwood, Ill. he didn't have any ideas about going to college. He recalls, "The depression came along in '29 and my family moved to Burlington, Ia." After high school, he took a job working for Standard Brands Company. It wasn't until 1939, three years after high school, that he decided to go to college. "I was dating a school teacher at the time and she interested me in getting a college education," he said. She was a good influence he noted.

After only one year of college, Steele was drafted into the Army. "I spent most of my time in Italy," he said. "One of the most memorable experiences of my life was when I heard Arturo Toscanini conduct the Florence Symphony in a bombed-out theatre. It was drizzling rain, but there was standing room only in the theatre," he said.

When he returned to the U.S. after the war, in 1946, Dr. Steele continued his education. He received his bachelors degree in 1948 and later in 1957, he received his Ph.D. in economics.

Having taught in three other institutions, Dr. Steele was offered a position in OU's economics department in 1961 by Dr. Roderick Crane. In 1964, Dr. Crane retired and Dr. Steele succeeded him as head of OU's economics department. "I've always enjoyed teaching," commented Steele.

Other Interests

Because of his interests in teaching and economics, Dr. Steele is currently involved in training elementary teachers to teach economic concepts to the younger set. This program is an effort of the Nebraska Council on Economic Education of which he is a member.

Besides being involved in several community activities and belonging to a formidable list of professional and honorary organizations, he has begun an economics book. "It's slow work, but I'm coming along," he noted.

NEWS NOTES

She Stoops and - - - Opps!

"She Stoops to Conquer" is a delightful play by Oliver Goldsmith. It mixes mishaps, mischief and romance in a spicy concoction which is bound to bring a chuckle from everyone who sees it. The play will be presented March 11, 12 and 13 in the OU auditorium.

Sharpen Your Pencil

Sharpen your pencil, fill your pen or get a new type-writer ribbon and prepare a composition for this semester's publication of "The Grain of Sand," OU's own literary publication. Anyone can submit an original work of prose or poetry. Poems of no more than 40 lines or less and prose work of 2000 words or less are preferred. However, all are welcome.

It is requested that all entries be typed, double spaced and on white paper. The deadline for submission is March 26. You may leave your entries with Dr. Ralph Wardle in room 317 in the Administration Building.

Look - - It's a Snowball!

A snow-covered little bird told me recently to get ready for "Operation Snowball." It's coming you know.

OU Is Invited To Participate In Educational Tour

A unique educational experience — a 30-day tour of Britain including 10 days at Oxford University — is in the offering this year for University of Omaha summer session students.

The announcement was made Wednesday by Dean William T. Utley, College of Adult Education head, and summer sessions director.

And, there's also a unique distinction involved. The affair is being co-sponsored by the English Speaking Union of the Commonwealth and Omaha University, and the latter will be the only American university participating.

Dr. and Mrs. A. Stanley Trickett will host the special educational trip that leaves Kennedy International Airport in New York City on July 11 and returns August 12.

Dr. Trickett is professor and head of OU's history department. A native of Swinton, England, he has made 25 trips to Europe.

During the 10 days at Oxford (July 17-26), students will hear a series of 12 lectures from prominent British authorities. The talks will cover the general areas of politics, industry and trade, education, research, the social series, the arts, literature and music.

In addition to seeing London the tour will cover the historic areas of South England, Wales, the Lake District, the low and highlands of Scotland, then to Edinburgh and back to England by way of the Sir Walter Scott country. The traveling will conclude with a tour of the historic towns of East England.

The trip, titled "Britain Today," will carry from three to six hours of credit. The cost, including round-trip plane fare from New York City, will be $1,090.

Further information is available by calling or writing Dean Utley's office.

Best Dressed Coeds In Limelight Today

The ten best dressed girls on campus will be announced today in the Conference Center.

Preliminary nominations were made Tuesday by the Home Economics Club which sponsors the contest. Faculty and students also make nominations to the members.

The girls will be chosen on the basis of being properly dressed for the occasion, being well groomed and knowing the difference between party, school and play clothes. This must be maintained throughout the year said Miss Margaret Killian, head of the home economics department.

TV Classroom Hosts Trickett

A new TV Classroom will begin March 13th with Dr. A. Stanley Trickett, professor and chairman of the history department.

The course entitled, "Great Captains," is about famous military leaders throughout history.

Registration fee for the class is $45. The deadline is 5 p.m., Friday, March 19th. The books for the course will be $12.45. Completion of the course will earn three college credits.

The program is shown over KMTV every Saturday morning from 8 to 8:30 a.m. It will be produced at Omaha University with Mr. James Onder and Gary Karre directing. The crew consists of Radio-TV students at the university.

Kansas Exhibition To Feature OU Art

The Omaha University Art Department is one of the five contributing schools in the Second CIC Art Exhibition this month at Fort Hays, Kans.

All schools from Kansas and Nebraska which participate in the Central Intercollegiate athletic Conference activities were invited to participate in the show.

The OU students whose works are on display are Marie Christian, Bill Hansen, Dave Kawami (3), Mary Sanderson, Louise Senez (3), Trudy Shimko and Fred Somers (2).

ETV Teachers Being Chosen

An Educational television teacher class is being held for 16 teachers, experienced in the areas of speech, art, music, science, primary grade literature, guidance and health, and social studies.

From this group, approximately six teachers will be chosen to teach over ETV Channel 16 next fall. A teacher doesn't necessarily have to attend this class to be chosen as an ETV teacher.

ETV Channel 16 will be broadcast next fall from OU radio and television studios.

THE BEARD OF AVON

Topic for today is that perennial favorite of English majors, that ever-popular crowd pleaser, that good sport and great American—William Shakespeare (or "The Swedish Nightingale" as he is better known as).

First let us examine the persistent theory that Shakespeare (or "The Pearl of the Pacific" as he is jocularly called) is not the real author of his plays. Advocates of this theory insist the plays are so full of classical allusions and learned references that they couldn't possibly have been written by the son of an illiterate country butcher.

To which I reply "Faugh!" Was not the great Spinoza's father a humble woodcutter? Was not the immortal Isaac Newton's father a simple second baseman? (The elder Newton, incidentally, is one of history's truly pathetic figures. He was, by all accounts, the greatest second baseman of his time, but baseball, alas, had not yet been invented. It used to break young Isaac's heart to see his father get up every morning, put on uniform, spikes, glove, and cap, and stand alertly behind second base, bent forward, eyes narrowed, waiting, waiting, waiting. That's all—waiting. Isaac loyally sat in the bleachers and yelled "Good show, Dad!" and stuff like that, but everyone else in town sniggered derisively, made coarse gestures, and pelted the Newtons with overripe fruit—figs for the elder Newton, apples for the younger. Thus, as we all know, the famous moment came when Isaac Newton, struck in the head with an apple, leapt to his feet, shouted "Europa!" and announced the third law of motion: "For every action there is an opposite and equal reaction!"

(How profoundly true these simple words are! Take, for example, Personna Stainless Steel Razor Blades. Shave with a Personna. That's the action. Now what is the reaction? Pleasure, delight, contentment, cheer, and facial felicity. Why such a happy reaction? Because you have started with the sharpest, most durable blade ever honed—a blade that gives you more shaves, closer shaves, comfortable shaves than any other brand on the market. If, by chance, you don't agree, simply return your unused Personnas to the manufacturer and he will send you absolutely free a package of Beep-Beep or any other blade you think is better.)

But I digress. Back to Shakespeare (or "The Gem of the Ocean" as he was ribaldly appelled).

Shakespeare's most important play is, of course, Hamlet (or, as it is frequently called, Macbeth). This play tells in living color the story of Hamlet, Prince of Denmark, who one night sees a ghost upon the battlements. (Possibly it is a goat he sees; I have a first folio that is frankly not too legible.) Anyhow, Hamlet is so upset by seeing this ghost (or goat) that he stabs Polonius and Brer Bodkin. He is thereupon banished to a leather factory by the king, who hollers, "Get thee to a tannery!" Thereupon Ophelia refuses her food until Laertes shouts, "Get thee to a beanery!" Ophelia is so cross that she chases her little dog out of the room, crying, "Out, damned Spot!" She is fined fifty shillings for cussing, but Portia, in an eloquent plea, gets the sentence commuted to life imprisonment. Thereupon King Lear and Queen Mab proclaim a festival—complete with kissing games and a pie-eating contest. Everybody has a perfectly splendid time until Banquo's ghost (or goat) shows up. This so unhinges Richard III that he drowns his cousin, Butt Mahmey. This leads to a lively discussion, during which everyone is killed. The little dog Spot returns to utter the immortal curtain lines:

Our hero now has croaked,
And so's our prima donna.
But be of cheer, my friends.
You'll always have Personna.

©1965, Max Shulman

Yea and verily. And when next thou buyest Personna? buyest also some new Burma Shave? regular or menthol, which soak-eth rings around any other lather. Get thee to a pharmacy!

Infamous Campus Scribe Wonders About Fairness, Tells How To Dodge Draft

I once suggested as a title for this column, "The Fairness Report," but the editor anticipated a deluge of inquiries as to what "fairness" meant (possibly, even, what "report" meant.) I assured the editor that I didn't have the slightest idea of the meaning of "fairness" and I was a little vague on "report" too; and I would relate that fact to anyone who asked.

As far as I know, "fairness" is a form of journalese which is untranslatable, and was invented by a fellow staffer, who, for his sake and mine, shall go nameless.

Perhaps "fairness" can best be defined through example. The following examples come from a recently published book entitled "Fairness is a Warm Beer," Groucho and Marx, 42 pages, rather poorly illustrated.

Examples:

—Fairness is an "F minus, minus".

—Fairness is being in a class of 30 people with 29 bootstrappers.

—Fairness is getting lost in Elmwood Park looking for your car.

—Fairness is waiting four hours in what you think is the registration line, only to find out that it is the end of the line waiting to see "Mary Poppins."

—Fairness is losing your crib sheet ten minutes before an exam.

—Fairness is buying a lunch in the O'Uampi Room which looks like it has been trampled by a herd of indifferent bison.

—Fairness is getting a "Do not admit to class" slip because of a parking ticket, but the teacher makes you stay for class anyway.

—Fairness is having another column in the same paper with 15 to 20 more laughs than another column I could name.

The last I heard, "Fairness is a Warm Beer," was selling very well. That is, no doubt, an example of what one can do if one lives in a Great Society.

How To Beat The Draft

Many of you fine young men attending this fine young institution know that you are exempt from the draft as long as you stay here. But what happens when you graduate—say in five or six years. Well, by 4-F, I'm here to help you.

Keeping in mind that physical disqualification is rather gauche, I present here some section eight dodges which will guarantee results.

1. Walk into the recruiting office backwards, bend over, peer through your legs, salute with your left hand, and say "Happy New Year."

2. Walk up to the desk sergeant and ask, "What's a nice looking girl like, you doing in a place like this?"

3. When the desk sergeant asks your name, put your finger to your mouth, flip lower lip rapidly up and down while crossing and uncrossing your eyes, then reply in a bewildered tone—"I haven't the foggiest idea." (This may not keep you out of the Army, but it may qualify you for Officer's Candidate School.)

4. Enter the recruiting office armed to the teeth with rifles, pistols, grenades, sabres, and a few hundred rounds of ammo. Using your best snarling grimace shout, "Bring me more commies," "Don't give up the Ship," "Gung-Ho," and other fight slogans. (Note — Don't overdo this. The sergeant may take you seriously and put you on the front lines in Viet Nam, or possibly even Alabama.)

5. Come bouncing into the office with an American Flag singing "Yankee Doodle Dandy," followed by "God Bless America." Then turn out the lights and rip off your shirt, revealing "I Love America," which has been tattooed on your chest with fluorescent ink. As the desk sergeant breaks into tears over this touching display of patriotism—run up to the State Department and renounce your U. S. citizenship.

One young man I know says, "All of these suggestions are good, but, as for me, I'd rather be—a married man." A happy man, an exempt man, a married man." And he has an engagement ring engraved "To whom it may concern" to back up his statement.

His attitude, I suppose, automatically qualifies him for a section-eight.

Former TOMAHAWK Boss Stars On Weekly WOW 'Marilou' Show

A 1964 University of Omaha graduate currently is the star of her own television show. Marilou Thibault, editor of the 1964 TOMAHAWK yearbook, is the hostess on the half-hour "Marilou" program seen each Tuesday morning at 9:30 on WOW-TV, Channel 6.

Marilou said her show is designed with the homemaker in mind. She said the half-hour program is a potpourri of women's news covering everything from the latest fashions and hairstyles to interviews with professional football coaches.

Just Happened

The affable blonde who admits, "I just sort of happened into broadcasting," started her round-about way into television as a reporter for KBON radio in May, 1963. She explained that as a reporter she gained valuable experience and self-confidence while covering everything from Omaha City Council meetings to strong-arm hold-ups.

Except for "direct reports" Marilou had never done broadcasting of any kind. But in May, 1964 she started a 4-month stint as the all-night announcer for the radio station.

Marilou came to WOW as radio and television continuity director in December, 1964, and is continuing in that capacity as WOW's continuity director. She also records commercial announcements for the station plus writing some of them.

Couldn't Eat

Marilou's first show was January 5, 1965 and, as the 22-year-old blonde put it, "I was so nervous I couldn't eat-breakfast that morning."

"The thing that worried me the most," Marilou admitted "was how I was going to fill a half hour." However she said it went much better than she had hoped.

Marilou, who also acts as the afternoon host for the Channel 6 "FOUR STAR FEATURE" each day at 12:25, said, however, she still becomes nervous before each show. "I think it helps for me to be nervous. I feel I perform better under some pressure."

One difference Marilou noticed immediately between radio and television is that a performer must always be aware of what's going on around him. She said while she was doing the all night radio program she could kick off her shoes if her feet got tired and no one would notice the difference. "But can't you see me doing that on television?" she asked replacing her left shoe.

Art Faculty Displays Talent

The art department faculty's talent has been on display in SC room 313 since February 8. This show, which reveals the cross-section of the art faculty, ends today.

The diversity of style and media is wide. Dr. J. V. Blackwell has exhibited his oils which include "Skiers," "Landscape," and "Madonna and Child." Peter Hill's oils include "Untitled," Green Interior and I," and several small studies. Thomas Majeski has several prints in the show which include "A man," "Self Portrait," and "The Artest," all intaglios.

Thomas Palmerton exhibits water colors and oils which include "White Wicker," "As the Crow Flies" and "In Back of Sonny's Place." He has introduced a new media of polymer in two of his paintings, "Breeze from the Missouri," and "Growing Stillness." Stoneware pots are included and three sculptures including "Rinaldo," a welded steel; "Girls Head," composed of lead; "Sphinx 10W30," a welded steel.

The show is open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Greek Jeweler Coming

The representative of Balfour Co., Dick Kirchner, will be on campus with his display of Greek fraternity and sorority jewelry March 2-3.

Mr. Kirchner will display the jewelry from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on the third floor of the Student Center.
